

Project: DOJO Office Headquarter Berlin

Design Team: UNDPLUS

Size: 200 m<sup>2</sup>

Location: BERLIN, GERMANY

Feature:

Project - Nestled within the historic walls of a former church in Berlin's Kreuzberg district, the new DOJO Office Headquarter emerges as a contemporary design marvel by UNDPLUS. This transformative project seamlessly bridges the sacred existing architecture with a modern, minimalist aesthetic, forging a harmonious dialogue between past and present.

At the heart of the office lies a striking cubic seating area adorned with sleek black upholstery and vibrant lime green accents - a bold nod to DOJO's corporate identity. This central gathering space is enveloped by a symmetrical dome, paying homage to the building's original sacred context while introducing a contemporary flair.

One of the project's standout features is the ingenious zoning of the kitchen area, which not only enhances functionality but also improves acoustics. Custom-made metal frames delineate the sleek black kitchen from a separate dining and meeting zone, while integrated soundproof panels foster a tranquil working atmosphere for employees.

UNDPLUS' design prowess extends to the monochromatic bathroom facilities, where epoxy flooring and tiled walls in a vibrant lime green hue create a visually arresting contrast against black accents. The lighting, a collaborative effort with the Kyiv-based design brand +kouple and DOJO, introduces a bespoke lime green pendant lamp, serving as an eye-catching centerpiece in the kitchen.

Through thoughtful material choices, geometric forms, and strategic color accents, UNDPLUS has crafted a truly unique office environment that pays homage to its historic setting while embracing a distinctly contemporary design language.
